

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY MAY 30.

General Sheridan is better, and in his present struggle against death may win a victory.

A CHANCE FOR GENIUS.

Not long ago Mr. Chamberlain, of Atlanta, Georgia, made a statement something like this: "The time may come when all the iron mines of this country will be abandoned. The most generally diffused metal on earth is aluminum. It is found almost invariably in clay, especially in red clay. It is now extracted from clay by a very expensive and tedious process, at a cost of more than $600 a ton. Some one will invent a process for getting aluminum out of clay by a rapid and cheap process. Then farewell to iron mines."

Mr. Chamberlain then said that aluminum has "three times the strength of steel, and only one-third its weight. This makes it, of course, the most valuable of metals. It was only discovered in 1825. It is bright, and it never tarnishes. Louis Napoleon offered $5,000 for a process for extracting it from clay, and two small bars of aluminum were presented to him by a French chemist as the result. It was so economical, expensive, but Napoleon had works established for extracting it, and he used it as a substitute for the silver eagle that were borne above the armies of France. It has all the beauty of silver and is more lustrous, stainless and has only one-fourth the weight of silver."

It is a fact that aluminum is one of the most abundant of the metals, and with the exception of oxygen and silicon, it is the most abundant thing in the world, and yet it is rare and expensive, for the reason that no cheap process has been discovered by which it can be got out of the clay. In fact, inventors and men of broad scientific attainments have practically paid but little attention to the matter. The greatest discovery that can be given to the world, unless it be that of mastering all diseases, is that of securing aluminum from the clay.

GOOD POLITICAL FISHING.

The investigation which is now going on regarding the abuses in the New York custom house, will result as everybody expected it would, in good fishing for the republicans. The reports show that several witnesses have testified that Assistant Secretary Maynard had removed competent men from the service, purely for political reasons, while the veteran democratic appraiser, McMullen, testified unwillingly that they were honest and efficient officers. Maynard was shown to have kept a "black list" indicating the men to be dismissed solely because they were republicans, in direct violation of the civil service rules. In one case when a name had been marked for dismissal, when the assistant secretary was informed that the proscribed one was a son of ex-Senator Jacobs, of Brooklyn, he promptly ordered his name to be stricken from the list. An inspector had been removed for drunkenness and insubordination, but his name not being found on Maynard's black list, he demanded his reinstatement and actually had him reappointed in direct violation of the law. Several of the removed men testified that they could learn no reason for their removal, and Mr. McMullen declared that they were both competent and faithful.

If the select investigating committee want that kind of finds it can get them in almost every department of the government. There is practically no such thing as civil service reform. There hasn't been any for years, and in fact there can't be any under our present political system. This does not mean that no good men get in office, for such men do get in office sometimes, and they are as likely to be good when taken from intelligent classes as they are if taken by the rules of the civil service association.

BRAVE WORDS FROM THOMAS.

A Washington dispatch, May 29th, relates that Sheridan's men shot a leg of James H. Berry, an Alabama rebel, at the battle of Corinth, and to-day being a senator from Arkansas, Berry objected to the consideration of a bill to make Sheridan a full general. Congressman Thomas says: "Thanks to a few fools in the north a cold south exists, and our Sheridan is reeling on his sick bed by a pardoned rebel."

There is some interest now attached to the title of lieutenant general, inasmuch as General Sheridan is not expected to live. The office was first created for General Washington, and it was abolished when he became president. In the year 1847, General Scott was made lieutenant general, in recognition of his services during the war with Mexico. In the early part of 1864 the grade of lieutenant general was revived by act of congress, and General Grant was immediately appointed by President Lincoln to fill the office. When Grant was made general, July 25, 1866, upon the creation of that office, General Sherman was promoted to the office of lieutenant general, and when General Grant, on March 4, 1869, became president, Lieutenant General Sherman was promoted to the office of general, and Sheridan was promoted to that of lieutenant general. On November 1, 1883, General Sherman retired and Lieutenant General Sheridan took command of the army. The act of congress of July, 1870, provided that the offices of general and lieutenant general should continue until a vacancy occurred and no longer. The grade of general ceased with the retire-

WITH A BIG "N."

Mr. Blaine Again Says "No" with Regard to the Nomination.

A LETTER TO WHITEHEAD REID.

All Doubt Disipated by an Absolute Refusal to Enter the Race—Unity and Harmony Urged—Press Comment.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC REFUSAL.

New York, May 30.—The Tribune of to-day publishes the following letter from Mr. Blaine:

"PAID, May 27, 1888.—Whitehead Reid, Esq., Editor New York Tribune—My Dear Sir: Since my return to Paris from Southern Italy on the 8th inst. I have learned what I did not before believe that my name might be presented to the National convention as a candidate for the Presidency by the Republican party. A study of my letter to the Tribune of yesterday (which was despatched every thing I had the personal power to decide) has been received by many of my most valued friends as an absolutely conclusive in ultimate and possible contingencies. On the other hand, friends equally devoted and disinterested have construed my letter (as it should be construed) as an unconditional withdrawal of my name from the National convention. They have in consequence given up all hope of my being a candidate for the Chicago nomination, some of whom would not. I am sure, have consented to assume that position if I had desired to represent the party in the Presidential contest of 1888.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

WITH A BIG "N."

Mr. Blaine Again Says "No" with Regard to the Nomination.

A LETTER TO WHITEHEAD REID.

All Doubt Disipated by an Absolute Refusal to Enter the Race—Unity and Harmony Urged—Press Comment.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC REFUSAL.

New York, May 30.—The Tribune of to-day publishes the following letter from Mr. Blaine:

"PAID, May 27, 1888.—Whitehead Reid, Esq., Editor New York Tribune—My Dear Sir: Since my return to Paris from Southern Italy on the 8th inst. I have learned what I did not before believe that my name might be presented to the National convention as a candidate for the Presidency by the Republican party. A study of my letter to the Tribune of yesterday (which was despatched every thing I had the personal power to decide) has been received by many of my most valued friends as an absolutely conclusive in ultimate and possible contingencies. On the other hand, friends equally devoted and disinterested have construed my letter (as it should be construed) as an unconditional withdrawal of my name from the National convention. They have in consequence given up all hope of my being a candidate for the Chicago nomination, some of whom would not. I am sure, have consented to assume that position if I had desired to represent the party in the Presidential contest of 1888.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

"I should now, by speech or by silence, by action or inaction, permit my name, in any event, to come before the convention. I should incur the reproach of being ungrateful to those who have always been candid with me. I speak, therefore, because I am not willing to remain in a doubtful attitude. I am not willing to be the cause of misleading a single man among the millions who have given me their support and their confidence. I am not willing that even one of my faithful supporters in the past should be misled by my name being put forward in the minds of thousands of those men the impression that I had not been free from individual and personal considerations in accepting the nomination. The misrepresentations of my name, which have been made, are a source of great regret to me.

HOPE FOR LITTLE PHIL.

His Continued Improvement—The Physician Considers General Sheridan's Growing Frailty a Favorable Symptom—The Senate Agrees to His Treatment.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Improvement in the case of General Sheridan continues. The use of digitaline and oxygen has been discontinued and no narcotics have been given the patient for two days. While there seems to be good ground on which to base the hope that the General will recover it must not be forgotten that the cause of the trouble still remains and may assert itself at any moment. At 1 o'clock this morning Drs. O'Reilly, Matthews and Byrne issued the following bulletin:

"General Sheridan is sleeping quietly. No change to chronicle."

A Washington dispatch says that a number of years ago the General's mother, was

MR. SHERIDAN.

is now in her 90th year, had an attack very similar to that which prostrated the General. The progress of the disease was much the same as in the General's case.

One of the physicians said yesterday afternoon that the General was beginning to show some temper, which he thought was a good symptom, for, while he has been so long ill on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, he has been so docile, so patient, and has not shown the slightest sign of irritation at any thing. That he had been cross all day was looked upon as a very encouraging sign.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The Senate yesterday passed the bill to revive the grade of General of the Army and conferring it on Lieutenant-General Sheridan by a vote of yeas, 81; nays, 7, the negative votes being given by Senators Berry, Coke, Harris, Rogers, Sanborn, Vance, and Wilson (Md.).

Mrs. Sheridan sent to Senator Maudslayi the thanks of General Sheridan for the good news that the bill reviving the grade of General had passed the Senate.

THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Close of the General Assemblies of the Northern and Southern Churches.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 30.—The Presbyterian general assembly today adjourned and closed its session. The assembly was held in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was the 100th annual meeting of the church. The assembly was held in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was the 100th annual meeting of the church. The assembly was held in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., and was the 100th annual meeting of the church.

FORECLOSURE SALE—Theodore N. Treat, Executor of the last will and testament of was rendered in the above entitled case on the 84 day of April, 1887, in the Circuit Court of the County of Lincoln, State of Wisconsin, the above named plaintiff had against the above named defendant, a judgment for the sum of $1000.00, with interest, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the post-office, in the City of Lincoln, State of Wisconsin, for the purpose of offering for sale and sell public auction, to the highest bidder thereof, all the real estate and all the personal property of the said defendant, in the County of Rock and State of Wisconsin, in and by said judgment directed to be done, and thereon done, and the same to wit:

1. A certain lot or tract of land, situate, lying and being in the County of Lincoln, State of Wisconsin, known and described as follows, to wit:

Section two, town two, range one, quarter of section two, town two, (2) town two (2) range eleven (11) inside Rock County, Wisconsin, as shown on the map of said County, Wisconsin, and subject to said public judgment with interest thereon, together with the costs of sale.

Dated April 5th, 1887.

SILAS WARD

Plaintiff's Attorney, apudw

---

STATE OF WISCONSIN—COUNTY OF COCHISE
SHOCK COURT—Lemmings E. O. Goldsmith, vs.
The State of Wisconsin. to the said defendant.
You are hereby summoned to appear within ten days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and defend the above entitled action in the court afore said and in case of your failure to do so, judgment will be rendered against you according to the demand of the complaint, of which a copy will be served upon you by the undersigned.
Dated this 10th day of June, 1888.
ED. F. CAMPBELL,
Attorney for Plaintiff's Attorney.

P. O. Address, Evansville, Rock County, Wis.
apudw

---

STATE OF WISCONSIN—COUNTY OF COCHISE
SHOCK COURT—In Probate.
To all persons who may claim to be entitled to the next June term of the county court to be held in and for said county, at the court house, in the city of Marion, Wisconsin, on the 10th day of June, A. D. 1888, being June 10th, 1888, at nine o'clock a. m., the following matter will be taken up for consideration:
The petition of Rhoda J. Bennett and Rhoda the estate of Albert P. Bennett, late of the city of Jancville, in said county deceased.—Dated May 2nd, 1888.]

By the Court.
J. W. SALE,
County Judge.

may3d3w

Notice is hereby given that by virtue and in pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and the fourth (4th) day of May, A. D. 1888, in the County of Wisconsin, in favor of the above named plaintiff and against the above named defendants, a writ of Habeas Corpus, return (32nd) day of June A. D. 1888, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, in and for the Circuit Court of the said County of Wisconsin, in the City of Janesville in said County of Rock, after sale and sell at public auction the highest and best bid for the same real estate and mortgaged premises situated in said City of Janesville, County of Rock and State of Wisconsin and decreed by said Court to be sold and returned described as follows, to-wit:

One hundred and two (102) and one hundred and three (103) in Whitewater addition to Janesville, each part of said City may be sufficient to pay said judgment with interest and costs of sale.

SILAS WARD,
Sheriff of Rock County, Wis.
Plaintiff in said Cause, Janesville, Wis.
Dated, May 4, A. D. 1888.
may13dw

STATE OF WISCONSIN—COUNTY COURT FOR ROCK COUNTY—in probate.
Notice is hereby given that, on the next June term of said County Court, to be held in and for said County of the Court House, in the City of Janesville, in said County of Rock, State of Wisconsin, on June 5, A. D. 1888, being June 5th, 1888, at 9 o'clock a. m., the following matter will come up for consideration and be heard:

The petition of Amelia A. Thayer for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of John A. Thayer, late of said County of Rock, in said County deceased.—Dated, May 10th, 1888.
By the Court. J. W. SALE, Judge.

T. B. NELAN,
Attorney for petitioner.
may13dw

STATE OF WISCONSIN—COUNTY COURT FOR ROCK COUNTY—in probate.
Notice is hereby given that, on the next June term of the County Court, to be held in and for said County of the Court House, in the City of Janesville, in said County of Rock, State of Wisconsin, on June 5, A. D. 1888, being June 5th, 1888, at 9 o'clock a. m., the following matter will come up for consideration and be heard:

unc. A. D. 1868, being June 3rd, 1868, at a o'clock, a. m. the following matter will be heard and considered.

The petition of F. M. Hibbard, for the adjustment and allowance of his account as executor of the last will and testament of Amy Lee, late of the town of Jacksonville, in said county, do connect, and for the assignment of the residue of the estate of said deceased to said executor or his heirs by law and the will of said deceased entitled thereto—Dated May 4, 1888.

By the Court.

J. W. SALLÉ, Judge.

may3d3w

---

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

The only two calf or SEAMLESS Shoe in the world made WITHOUT TACK OR NAILS. As soft, light and durable as those costing $5 or $6, and having no tacks or nails to wear the stockings or hurt the feet, makes them comfortable and well-wearing as a hand sewed shoe. Buy the best. None genuine unless stamped on bottom "W. L. Douglas's Shoe, warranted."

W. L. Douglas's $3 shoe, the original and all hand sewed welt $4 shoe, which equals custom made shoes costing from $10 to $15.

W. L. Douglas's $3.50 shoe is unexcelled.

WE ISSUE INTEREST BEARING
CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT
SOLICIT OUT OF TOWN AS WELL AS CITY ACCOUNTS
AND TRANSACT ALL KINDS OF SAFE BANKING
BONDS AND OTHER SECURITIES

WANTED

Men to travel on salary for the PONTIAC NURSERIES OF CANADA, $500.00 TO $1000.00 month and expenses paid to sell our Canadian Broom Maple, previous experience not essential. Our stock sells well and gives better satisfaction than any other on the market. Address:

STONE & WELLINGTON,
Madison, - - - - - Wisconsin

ONE DOLLAR
Shades: Black, Maroon, Vermilion, Blue, Yellow, Olive Lake.
Indispensable to Farmers, Livery-Stable Keepers, and Repair Shops, Coaches, Furniture, Store Fronts, etc. Just the thing for at least one year. A quart does a busy complete.

HOUSE-PAINT
Money you can produce COIT & CO'S PERS TAIN-T that is warranted and take no risks. Merchants handling it are our agents
We Shaded are the Latest Styles you can get. It is the best in the line. You run to risk. Every job said every color warranted.

DRY STICKY
This is the best FLOOR-PAIN-T, 4 milable shades, warranted to stain, stiller than "where are good" ones. It is not so COIT & CO. OF CHICAGO, Manufacturers

THE GAZETTE. THE OFFICIAL CITY PAPER. PUBLISHED WEEKLY. AVERAGE CIRCULATION OF DAY. LEX AND WEEKLY $150.

Subscription and Advertising Rates. DAILY—Per year payable in monthly installments. $6.00. WEEKLY—Per year in advance. $1.00. Single copies, 10 cents.

Subscription and Advertising Rates. DAILY—Per year payable in monthly installments. $6.00. WEEKLY—Per year in advance. $1.00. Single copies, 10 cents.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Choice apricots at Denniston's. Apricots and other choice fruit at Denniston's.

Wood, Wood, Wood—Good dry popular for $8.50 per cord. No humbug. We have the wood.

Shurtlett's Cream—bananas, chocolate, lemon, strawberry and vanilla at the Star.

Don't throw the old shoes away—Take a look at our prices for repairs: Men's half shoes, 60 cents; half-boots and heels 75 cents; woman's half-shoes, 40 cents; children's, 25 cents. Best leather we can buy. Don't believe our credit friends when they say we buy and use poor stock. Try us and see.

Handsome lawn vases from $1 up at Wheelock's.

A nice lot of small stands and paper holders just received at Seaborn's store and furniture store 18 & 20 North Main street.

Embroidered Swiss flouncings—exquisite designs, complete line—prices to suit purchaser.

J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

Goodies—We have never lost a customer who had used our Jack-Knife Soap. Price, 10 cents; 25 cents; 50 cents; 75 cents. A two-blade pocket knife free with each pair. You will find it a bargain to wear.

Bananas and all fruits at Denniston's.

A good house, with an acre of land, a fine cellar, water, fruit and shade trees will be sold cheap, at once, or will divide and sell a lot. C. E. BOWERS.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE LADIES—They have come, a complete line of the celebrated Star Shirts Waists at Zeigler's. The only perfect fitting waist made. Your early inspection is solicited.

Ladies' Glazed Dongola Button Shoes for $1.00 a pair. Cash does it at Richardson, Whittier & Ray's.

Large house, near High School, to rent. O. E. BOWERS.

For Rent—First class dwelling, with barn. Inquire of L. B. Cutting, Park avenue, fourth ward. Possession given about June 10th.

15 bread tickets at Denniston's. Just think 15 to 20 cent loaves at Denniston's.

House and lot in First ward worth $1,500 for sale at $1,100, if taken within 30 days. SAGE & HOSKINS.

Our sale next Saturday promises to be a lively one. ARONIS REID.

We take the lead in new spring dresses; also in trimmings. And such a line as we show! It suits them all. ARONIS REID.

A CITY HALL NEEDED. The Immediate Necessity for Such a Building Made Apparent.

For the Accommodation of the Municipal Officers and the Courts.

The notion of the county board of supervisors at the special session which closed last evening—wherein it was resolved that "The room now occupied by the municipal court of Rock county in the courthouse is insufficient in many respects for the needs of said court, and it is to be necessary by the members of this board that the city of Janesville be required to provide a suitable room for said court at the earliest date reasonable."

There is no wonder that on frequent occasions, when crowded up in the closed council chamber, the aldermen forget themselves, and in order to escape the inhalation of the foul atmosphere, lose their temper and let important business pass beyond their reach without due consideration. The entire building is needed, and will soon be required for the accommodation of the two fire companies now located therein, and while it is hardly for fire department purposes, probably it could be put to no better use.

It is a fact that in the city which questions the propriety of building a city hall at the time let him visit the offices at the clock or treasurer at any time and remain in the room only a few moments, or attend a session of the common council, and he will be thoroughly convinced that something ought to be done "to remedy the evil."

As it now is there is no convenient place in which to hold a public meeting of citizens. They will hold no meeting in the council chamber, except it be for a political caucus and at the solicitation of some ambitious candidate. Mayor Winsor says it is an outrage to compel the council and city officers to occupy such quarters, and his sentiments are echoed by nearly every one who goes inside the building. There are several eligible sites for a city hall building in Janesville, so there need be no dispute or contention regarding that point. Only agree that a building shall be erected with ample accommodations for every branch of the municipal government, including the municipal court, and there will be no trouble. If such a building should be built the objections to the enterprise could be counted on the fingers of the two hands.

Meeting of National Educational Association, San Francisco. The next annual meeting of the National Educational Association of the United States will be held in San Francisco, Cal., from July 17th to 20th inclusive, and the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. offers a special inducement of a rate of one fare for the round trip to all persons desiring to visit California at that time. Tickets will be sold from July 15th to July 13th inclusive, and will be good for return passage any time within ninety days from date of sale. Circulars containing full information can be obtained by applying to or addressing any ticket agent of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co.

Hard on Carvels. Staffed Moths Make Their Appearance in This City. An innocent-looking black bug not larger than a grain of wheat, but covered with hair, lay under the microscope in an east side drug store this morning.

The little blind God on hills. Is the rather eccentric title to a sprightly romance published in most elaborate style, profusely illustrated, the scenes laid in the Northwest. By Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago.

HONORING BOYS IN BLUE. Memorial Day Fittingly Observed by Patriotic Janesville People.

A Review of the Exercises of the Day—Streets Filled with People.

The flag that hung at half-mast over Post hall to-day, told plainlier than words the meaning of the throng that stretched out in an unbroken line toward Oak Hill. It was Memorial day, and had given their lives for their country's well-fare.

The day opened with every indication of rain, and low-hanging clouds prevented the turnout of the largest ever seen on such an occasion in the city. The streets were well lined, however, and from early morning the avenues to Oak Hill and the Catholic cemetery were thronged with people.

The procession, under the command of B. E. Baldwin, as chief marshal, assisted by T. W. Golden, formed on South Main street, the right resting on East Milwaukee street, at half past one o'clock in the following order:

Chief Marshal and Aid. Bowler City Band. Light Infantry—Capt. M. A. Newman. Albany Martial Band.

W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R.—Commander J. S. Lee. Woman's Relief Corps No. 21, in Carrolls. Veterans in Carriage. Decorators in Carriages.

Officers of the Day in Carriages. Speaker and Chaplain and Singers in Carriages. Citizens in Carriages. The procession moved along East and West Milwaukee streets to Jackson street thence to the cemetery.

While it was not as large as some in previous years, it was imposing and attractive. There were eighty-four veterans soldiers in the ranks of Sargent Post and a number of other members of the Post whose infirmities compelled them to take seats in the vehicles.

At the cemetery the exercises were opened by music and brief remarks were made by Maj. S. C. Cobb, president of the day. The remainder of the afternoon's programme, which is being gone through with as we go to press, is as follows:

First Division. Guide—B. S. Bayard. Escort—W. V. Morrison and William Boies. Superintendent—Mrs. M. M. Millette. Decorators—Orrville Bliss, Mrs. L. M. Morrison, Fred Church, Stella Jarvis, Albie Fenton and Albie Bliss.

OUR NEIGHBOR'S DOINGS. Happenings of the Past Week in Surrounding Towns and Villages.

FACTS FLOTTING BY CORRESPONDENTS OF THE GAZETTE.

Miss Rose Brown, who has been attending school at Sparta for the past year, spent Sunday at her home here. Stanley Braden, train dispatcher on the Wisconsin Central line, spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Silverthorn, of Albany, are visiting among relatives in this vicinity. They expect to take their departing soon for St. Croix, to look after some land which they own, and which is situated not far from that place.

Children's day will be observed in the churches here. Our school closes one week from Friday.

Miss Austin Dean has been visiting among relatives and friends here. Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Brown, of Sparta, spent Sunday at his old home here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crowley, of Milton, were in town Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Meenan.

The Misses Cronk were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richards. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, of Janesville, spent Sunday with her parents here.

John Torpy was a broad smile these days. He says the boy and all are doing well.

The social at Mr. James Hastings on Friday evening of last week was largely attended and the receipts of the evening amounted to quite a little sum.

Miss Dorra Owen goes to Geneva this week to attend the missionary which is to be held at that place.

MIXED VERSE.

A Garden Scene. I stroll about the garden where the sunbeams kiss the dew.

A Summer Romance. We stood in the moonlight's tender glow, And I thought her the fairest girl That ever lived.

King Humbug. Humbug is King, and his realm is wide—His subjects all the world over.

JOHNSTOWN. We have had plenty of rain for present use in the vicinity and small grain and grass are looking well and now we are needing water weather and sunshine to give the corn a start.

THE WEATHER. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 61 degrees above zero. Clear with east wind.

THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING. Merchants who are skeptical on the question of advertising can learn a practical lesson by noting the increased trade now being enjoyed by our leading dry goods house, as the result of a judicious use of printer's ink.

STUDYING. Mrs. Scraph Clinton started Tuesday for Loras, Iowa, to visit her son, Frank Clinton, and the family of Mr. Wm. Frazer.

MISS Emma Campbell, of Killebuck, Wis., will be married Tuesday, after a short visit in Brodhead, to her groom, Mr. Charles Campbell.

MISS Maria Quest, of Waterloo, Iowa, who has been spending the past year in Brodhead with her aunt, Mrs. H. P. Clarke, returned to her home Tuesday.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Just received—our third lot of black flouncings—charlity, Spanish gimp, etc. We can save you money on these goods—largest stock—lowest prices. J. M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

Buy the Singer, the best machine made. No. 38 South Main street. For the best machine oil, go to the Singer office, No. 38 South Main street.

Seven residence lots on South Bluff street, third ward, four blocks from business portion of the city, must be sold before June 1st. Call at once for they will not be held for high prices.

Men's fine calf sewed boots for $2.00. Cash does it at Richardson, Whittier & Ray's.

$850 for a house, barn and two lots—$350 down, balance on easy terms. D. CONNOR.

House to Rent—209 Park Place, now occupied by Mr. Behan, the most desirable location in the city. Inquire of C. W. Woodruff at 201 Park Place or at office.

$900 will buy a house, barn and one lot—in good locality—one-half down. D. CONNOR.

If you want your groceries delivered promptly have Dan Shelly take them for you from the East End.

Hundreds of styles of ladies' hats at five to twenty-five cents. It will surprise you to see what you can buy at these prices. BOAT, BAKER & CO.

An immense line of Swiss and Nain-sook flouncings with narrow embroidery to match. We can save you money on these goods. BOAT, BAKER & CO.

Parasols and sun shades—we are catching all the buyers. Our line eclipses all others. ARONIS REID.

The latest novelties in walking sticks or Ziegler's. Very cheap.

For type writer paper call at Sutherland's bookstore.

We have received 50 dozen corsets among them some new brands. ARONIS REID.

Charming and lovely corsets, specially also lawn, yards, centers, etc. Address J. W. Webb, 37 South Main St.

Judging by the way the ladies are buying our dressed goods we must have the finest crested stock in the city.

Good hammocks—low prices—at Sutherland's.

A ragged tramp is stylish when you put him in one of T. J. Ziegler's elegant new spring suits. Not because the R. T. is a fit subject for a fashion plate, but because our tailor fitting suits are models of stylish dress. We have many goods and make the price low.

Another new arrival of Wall papers from the factory this day at the Pioneer Bookstore, east side the river.

THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK.

The Gazette Steam Binery has now a special binding for the "Historical History of the World's Great Nations," and is prepared to do this work in a first class manner, cheaper than any New York or Chicago binery. Subscribers to this work will do well by calling at the Gazette Binery before placing their orders for binding. We have a fine line of samples on exhibition.

Housekeepers, during house-cleaning time, should gather up all their old books and magazines, and send them to the Gazette Steam Binery for rebinding or repairs. We make a specialty of this class of work. Our prices are very low.

Save your old books and send them to the Gazette Steam Binery for repairs or re-binding. Such work costs but little, and your books will be made to appear new. Prices for this class of work very reasonable at the Gazette Steam Binery.

THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. Receipts of grain for the week ending May 20, 1888. The market has ruled firm for all kinds except barley. Wheat is in demand at a price of 100 cents per bushel for choice. Rye is wanted at 60 cents. Barley is dull and undemanding. Corn is in demand at 32 1/2 cents. Common to fair quality 30 1/2 to 31 1/2 cents. Corn and oats in demand at quotations.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK.

The Gazette Steam Binery has now a special binding for the "Historical History of the World's Great Nations," and is prepared to do this work in a first class manner, cheaper than any New York or Chicago binery. Subscribers to this work will do well by calling at the Gazette Binery before placing their orders for binding. We have a fine line of samples on exhibition.

Housekeepers, during house-cleaning time, should gather up all their old books and magazines, and send them to the Gazette Steam Binery for rebinding or repairs. We make a specialty of this class of work. Our prices are very low.

Save your old books and send them to the Gazette Steam Binery for repairs or re-binding. Such work costs but little, and your books will be made to appear new. Prices for this class of work very reasonable at the Gazette Steam Binery.

THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK. THE GAZETTE'S SPECIAL WORK.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN. RECEIPTS OF GRAIN.